Part A: Policy

1. Purpose and Scope

Policy and procedures to manage critical incidents are expected of organisations and mandated by government regulations, notably the National Code of Practice for Registration Authorities and Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2007 (The National Code 2007) and the ESOS Act 2000. Consequently the ACT is required to be satisfied that colleges have such instruments in place. This document provides requirements and guidance to college Principals to develop or review such policies and procedures for each of their colleges.

Whilst government regulations focus on critical incidents affecting students, policy should cover all likely victims and also be part of the risk management plan of an organisation. The ACT advises against having multiple instruments serving similar purposes and instead recommends that the obligations set by the National Code be integrated into college risk management plans.

Critical incidents are likely to be infrequent to rare and consequently provide limited opportunity to acquire expertise by experience. Also critical incidents are often emergencies and time is critical, so this policy focuses upon essentials rather than attempts to be comprehensive in coverage. The onus is on colleges to adapt this advice in a way that enables them to respond best to their circumstances.

A critical incident may be defined as an event which results in serious harm to persons or property often accompanied by trauma affecting victims and participants.

2. Policy Level

Management / Operational

3. Background

This policy is part of the larger risk management framework of the ACT and each college.

The ACT is registered by TEQSA for the provision of educational services to Overseas Students. Consequently the ACT and its affiliated colleges approved to deliver ACT courses to overseas students is obliged at all times to comply with the National Code of Practice for Registration Authorities and Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2007 (The National Code 2007) and the Educational Services for Overseas Students (ESOS) Act 2000. The preamble to and the content of Standard 6 refer to the need for a registered provider to have a documented critical incident policy in the following terms:

6.4 The registered provider must have a documented critical incident policy together with procedures that cover the action to be taken in the event of a critical incident, required follow-up to the incident, and records of the incident and action taken.

4. Definitions

A critical incident is as an event which results in or has the potential to cause serious harm to persons or property often accompanied by trauma affecting victims and participants. A threshold for the adjective critical could be where expert medical attention or professional counselling is required or the cost of structural repair is substantial.

The ACT or College is the abbreviation for “the Australian College of Theology”.

college is the abbreviation for an institution affiliated with the Australian College of Theology.

staff are members of the academic and general staff at a college affiliated with the ACT overseas student is a student who is in Australia on a student visa enrolled with the Australian College of Theology through its affiliated colleges responsible person is person designated a supervisory role and responsibility in respect of an incident emergency services consist of the core services (police, fire and rescue services, emergency medical services including ambulance) summoned by a dedicated emergency telephone number.

5. Principles

(A) Benefits of this policy and procedures

A1. Procedures should ...

- (a) reduce the likelihood of critical incidents,
- (b) enable incidents to be managed efficiently and compassionately
- (c) prevent further harm and promote recovery
- (d) facilitate continuous improvement
- (e) reduce the risk of independent action

(B) Possible Critical Incidents

B1. Critical Incidents may include but are not limited to the following, whether they occur on-campus or off-campus, during or after normal hours of college activity:

- Acts of violence or threatening behaviour
- Natural hazards or man-made disasters or potential disasters
- Site invasion that leads to harm whether by intent or not
- Accident onsite or offsite
- Acts of self-harm or social irresponsibility
- Structural failure of building or equipment
- Riot or affray
- Onset of physical or mental illness
- Witnessing a critical incident affecting third parties including accident, assault, injury, death
- Person or persons missing and presumed to be at substantial risk
- Arrest
- Acts or omissions of staff, students and/or contractors
- Being the victim of a crime – robbery, assault

(C) Overseas students

C1. Overseas students should be offered special consideration because of less familiarity with local circumstances and institutions and the absence of a personal support network.

(D) Roles of ACT colleges

D1. This policy recommends colleges define responsible persons to supervise the management of critical incidents and ensure the welfare of students and staff.

D2. In order to comply with the National Code 2007 the ACT is obliged to require colleges to keep records of critical incidents including but not limited to the nature of the incident, the way in which it was managed and the follow up actions that took place to complete the recovery.

D3. Since the threshold for defining a critical incident is hard to set and the Code does not appear to have been formulated with consortia in mind, efficiency in reporting would suggest the following practice be adopted: colleges must put in place procedures whereby they can supply on request the information specified in the National Code and they must inform the ACT promptly of any particularly serious incidents.

6. Policy Content

(A) Disclaimer

- A1. This document provides guidance on procedures to adopt in handling critical incidents but does not restrict the scope or power of college executives to adapt or modify them as seems appropriate. Advice from specialist organisations is readily available on emergency management and risk management and should be consulted. Moreover, government regulations specify requirements and procedures relating to a variety of risks, eg fire, flood, etc., which are likely to be incorporated in risk management plans.

(B) Roles and responsibilities in colleges

- B1. The college should incorporate the critical incident policy within its risk management framework.
- B2. The college should bring their critical incident policy and procedures to the attention of staff and students at the time of their orientation or induction to the college.
- B3. The college should include in the procedures for dealing with critical incidents the following:
- (a) Mechanisms to reduce the likelihood of occurrence of a critical incident, ie basically risk management plans.
 - (b) Designate the person with responsibility for oversight and authority of a critical incident. Such person would usually be the CEO (Principal) but the supervisory responsibility may be delegated to a person with known capability. The person designated should be self-controlled, able to think clearly and respond decisively and keep the CEO informed. The Principal may establish roles for particular staff, form any teams that seem appropriate and delegate responsibilities to personnel with appropriate expertise. Colleges may find it helpful to establish a team of responsible people to strengthen the response capability.
 - (c) Reporting and communication systems that provide information flow up and down the line of command, and include assembly points made known to on-campus personnel. It is important to avoid confusion and ensure the coordination of decisions and actions in the event of an incident.
 - (d) Mechanisms that ensure personnel who first identify an incident know who to report to and are aware that they should avoid actions that compound risk. This may include training programs.
 - (e) Personnel with competencies likely to assist with incident response, e.g. those with first aid qualifications, technical skills, etc
 - (f) Contacts for expert advice: medical, fire, SES, police, counselling
 - (g) An aide to the person in charge can be helpful in recording responses and checking against established procedures, and passing such records to the Registrar. The Registrar should normally be responsible for ensuring a report is compiled and records maintained.
 - (h) Mechanisms to identify follow up procedures for affected parties to an incident in a way that brings finality.
 - (i) Scheduling of debriefing and formulation of recommendations arising from the incident review

Staff and students are responsible for ...

- (a) following the critical incident procedures published by their college
- (b) knowing to whom they report an incident or the potential for an incident
- (c) not placing themselves or others at risk of injury or other trauma
- (d) supporting those with overall responsibility for oversight of the process

- (e) availing themselves of the support mechanisms in the event of exposure to a critical incident

(C) Responsibility of the ACT Office

- C1. The ACT office and/or Academic Board is responsible for determining any amendments that may be appropriate for a student’s study and assessment program, and will act on any recommendations made by the college.
- C2. The ACT office or Academic Board may also act in regard to any staff matter for which the ACT has responsibility and will act on any recommendation by the college.
